

Is a Person Saved by Calling on the Name of the Lord?

(Luke 18:9-14)

"Whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved" (Rom. 10:13). What a wonderful salvation promise! Man does the calling; God does the saving. God is rich unto all who call upon Him (Rom. 10:12)! The richest people in all the world are those who are saved! The unsaved billionaires of this world are rich for a second but poor for all eternity!

There are two clear Biblical examples of men who called upon the name of the Lord: 1) The tax collector (Luke 18:10-14) cried, "God be merciful to me a sinner." 2) The malefactor on the cross (Luke 23:39-43) said, "Lord, remember me when Thou comest into Thy kingdom." Knowing their desperate need, they cried out in faith to the only One who could save them. The publican was justified and the malefactor would soon be in paradise. The Pharisee and the other malefactor both refused to call upon the Lord and they both remained in their sins.

Calling upon the name of the Lord is not a condition of salvation which is separate from faith. Calling upon the name of the Lord is an outward expression of inward faith. Before a person calls on Christ, he must first believe on Christ in his heart. Before the malefactor cried out, "Lord, remember me!" he first believed in his heart. His words merely expressed the faith which he already had. When the publican cried out to the Lord for mercy, he had already believed in his heart. Hence, Romans 10:14 asks, "How then shall they call on Him in whom they have not believed?" You cannot call upon Christ for salvation unless you have first believed on Him in your heart. Calling upon His name is a natural expression of the faith the person already possesses.

Have you called upon the name of the Lord?

George Zeller, www.middletonbiblechurch.org

Is a Person Saved by Calling on the Name of the Lord?

(Luke 18:9-14)

"Whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved" (Rom. 10:13). What a wonderful salvation promise! Man does the calling; God does the saving. God is rich unto all who call upon Him (Rom. 10:12)! The richest people in all the world are those who are saved! The unsaved billionaires of this world are rich for a second but poor for all eternity!

There are two clear Biblical examples of men who called upon the name of the Lord: 1) The tax collector (Luke 18:10-14) cried, "God be merciful to me a sinner." 2) The malefactor on the cross (Luke 23:39-43) said, "Lord, remember me when Thou comest into Thy kingdom." Knowing their desperate need, they cried out in faith to the only One who could save them. The publican was justified and the malefactor would soon be in paradise. The Pharisee and the other malefactor both refused to call upon the Lord and they both remained in their sins.

Calling upon the name of the Lord is not a condition of salvation which is separate from faith. Calling upon the name of the Lord is an outward expression of inward faith. Before a person calls on Christ, he must first believe on Christ in his heart. Before the malefactor cried out, "Lord, remember me!" he first believed in his heart. His words merely expressed the faith which he already had. When the publican cried out to the Lord for mercy, he had already believed in his heart. Hence, Romans 10:14 asks, "How then shall they call on Him in whom they have not believed?" You cannot call upon Christ for salvation unless you have first believed on Him in your heart. Calling upon His name is a natural expression of the faith the person already possesses.

Have you called upon the name of the Lord?

George Zeller, www.middletonbiblechurch.org